Drugs boss made £500k from deals

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

THE boss of a drug gang smashed by police made more than £500,000 from his criminal activities, a court has been told.

Matthew Dixon, 39, of Elmshurst Close, Haverhill, was one of six people arrested following a major police investigation across two counties.

He was described as the main organiser behind the drugs distribution network, operated from his home where expensive cars, watches and large sums of cash were seized.

Last year five men were jailed for a total of 32 years. Dixon received a nine-year sentence, having only recently completed a four-and-a-half year jail term for drug dealing in Cambridge.

Dixon appeared at Ipswich Crown Court last week for a hearing aimed at recovering as much as possible of his illegal earnings from the drug trade.

The court heard that an investigation by the Crown Prosecution Service had assessed his total benefit from his criminal activities at £571,724. That investigation had also identified cash and other assets belonging to Dixon which totalled £32,619.

Judge David Goodin ordered Dixon to hand over the full £32,619 within the next six months.

Staff weigh in for charity shoot-out

STAFF at a weighing machine firm slipped off their company clothes and pulled on their favourite football colours for a World Cup fundraiser.

The Herbert Group, based in Rookwood Way, Haverhill, was raising money for Soccer Aid and the Everyman Stamp Out Prostate Cancer appeal.

Cash was raised through a penalty shoot-out in their lunch break, as well as a World Cup sweepstake. There was also World Cup cake on sale and more than 30 raffle prizes were donated by the directors and local companies.

Tracey Roach, head of PR at Herbert, said the day was a huge success and raised more than £270 for the charities.

Many staff paid £1 and dressed up in either football shirts or the colours of their team.

She said: "It was a great day which was enjoyed by all."

Mum's the word for network

EVEN more babies than usual were enjoying the sunshine at a pavement café as their mums set up a stall to publicise National Breastfeeding Week.

The Haverhill branch of the National Breastfeeding Network only started this year, but already has an enthusiastic group of mums, many of them trained as breastfeeding helpers to advise others who may be having problems.

The group met outside the Déjà vu café in Queens Street, handing out bags containing information about the group, giving balloons to children and booby band bracelets which help mums remember which side to feed their baby on next.

The group meets every Monday at the Cartwheels Children's Centre in Greenfields Way from 10.30am to noon, to give out tips, guidance and support, as well as holding social activities. It is also at the baby weighing clinic at Haverhill Health Centre in Camps Road on Fridays from 9.30am to noon. All mums are welcome to attend. You can also call the National Breastfeeding Helpline on 0300 100 0212.

Men's health check week

MEN are being encouraged to treat themselves as well as they treat their cars by getting a health MOT.

Those living in the Haverhill area can get a free check at the Wellman Clinic at the Crown Health Centre in Haverhill, during Men's Health Week.

In conjunction with Healthy Ambitions Suffolk, The Practice PLC and NHS Suffolk, the Wellman Clinic can offer a huge range of free services that can help men of all ages assess their overall level of health and fitness and get advice on their lifestyles.

Testing includes: body mass index – this will establish your ideal weight; blood pressure monitoring – high blood pressure increases the risk of heart attack and stroke; blood sugar testing – this tests the amount of glucose (sugar) in your blood and can highlight a risk of diabetes; and cholesterol testing – about two out of three adults have a higher than recommended level of cholesterol which can also increase the risk of heart disease and stroke.

Men can also get helpful advice on how to quit smoking and on specific health issues such as prostate cancer.

Naomi Cooper, practice manager at the Crown Health Centre said: "The Wellman Clinic is a great place for men to go to get their health checked out. It's free, there's no need to make an appointment and you don't need to be registered with a GP here. The clinic is open all year, not just for Men's Health Week, and offers a wide range of advice and services."

BT wind farm site revealed

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A WIND farm could be built near Haverhill.

BT announced on Friday it is investigating the feasibility of generating its own renewable electricity from the site in Suffolk.

The company is aiming to generate 25 per cent of its existing UK electricity from on-shore wind power by 2016 through its Wind For Change programme.

Peter McCarthy-Ward, BT's regional director for the East of England, said: "We can confirm that land south of Chilton Street and to the north of the A1092 between Stoke by Clare and Clare has been identified as a potential location for a wind power development, comprising up to six wind turbines."

"We are at an early stage in the process and will provide further information to the local community as things progress."

Clean energy given thumbs up

MORE investment should be made into clean energy such as wind power, according to an online poll of Suffolk residents.

The YouGov poll found that 72 per cent of residents agree that the Government should invest more in clean energy such as wind power. Just 15 per cent disagreed with the statement that investment in onshore wind energy could benefit the county's economy. Two thirds of those polled said that they wanted Suffolk to be a clean energy leader in the UK.

Dr Keith Tovey, energy

science adviser of the Low Carbon Innovation Centre at the University of East Anglia, said: "Suffolk has been lagging seriously behind other parts of the country in terms of renewable generation but has the expertise and resource to take a lead in this area."

He added: "BT is committed to increasing the amount of electricity it purchases from renewable sources and to safeguarding its own future power supplies."

"We are an environmentally and socially responsible company and will engage and consult local communities and other organisations throughout the planning process."

To help assess the suitability of the site from a wind energy perspective, BT has submitted an anemometer mast planning application (often known as a "met mast") to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

This is accompanied by a report outlining how the company would approach the process of carrying out the required environmental and community assessments before considering the submission of a formal wind turbine planning application.

Two jump from window during raid on property

BY SUZAN UZEL and JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MAN was assaulted and two women were injured after jumping from the window of a Haverhill property during a burglary.

Police were called on Saturday at 4.05pm to reports the door at a property in Elmdon Place had been kicked in and furniture was being thrown around.

Officers arrived to find an altercation going on outside the address and detained a 27-year-old man. Police also seized a knife at the scene.

The 27-year-old, from Haverhill, was arrested after the incident, which is being treated as aggravated burglary. A second man in his 30s was arrested later in relation to the incident.

Both have now been bailed to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on August 18, pending further inquiries.

A man at the address was assaulted and sustained a swollen lip.

Two young women, also in the property at the time, jumped from an upstairs window to escape the incident, with one suffering a broken elbow and the other spinal injuries, which are not thought to be life-threatening.

They were both taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital, in Cambridge, for treatment.

Sargent Sarah Bartley, of Haverhill police, said enquiries were still continuing.

She said: "We are doing more high profile reassurance patrols in the area, but it was a very isolated incident and not a random crime."

"We have spoken to a number of people who saw what happened and we would ask people to come forward if they have any information about what happened."

Police are investigating what exactly occurred and are asking anyone who was in the area at around this time to come forward if they saw any part of the incident.

Witnesses can contact Det Con Sarah Shepperson at Suffolk Police on (01473) 613 500.

Having a blast with BBC

TEENAGERS were having a blast when the BBC arrived at their school with workshops to develop their creative skills.

Young people aged 13-19 with a passion for music, TV and radio, took part in a series of free workshops run by BBC Blast in Haverhill.

Blast is the BBC's youth creativity service, giving teenagers the chance to try out new skills, showcase their own work and find out more about working in the creative industries.

A Blast Advance Tour visited Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College in Haverhill last week, with a small digital van, which converts into a mobile multi-media studio, equipped with laptops, cameras and sound equipment.

Students were able to use professional equipment to produce their own creative work in animation, music production, multi-media, gaming, radio, with advice and support from BBC staff and industry professionals.

Sian Lord, editor for BBC Blast said: "The idea of being creative can be pretty daunting, if you don't consider yourself to be particularly artistic."

"BBC Blast is all about inspiring young people to explore their own creativity, through technology and interactivity."

Drug man ordered to pay £32k

Failure to pay up would result in a further 15 months being added to Dixon's prison term, said Judge Goodin, who had presided over the sentencing of Dixon and his associates.

When Dixon was jailed the court heard that the gang had flooded Suffolk and Cambridgeshire with Class A narcotics, with couriers taking cash to drop-off points such as public car parks where it was exchanged for drugs.

The prosecution said that Dixon had been the "main organiser" of the illicit Haverhill-based business.

Around three kilos of pure cocaine with an approximate total street value, after cutting, of £400,000 was involved in the operation, which ran between October 2007 and July 2008.

But officers who intercepted the drugs ring think the criminals brought around £1 million of drugs into Cambridgeshire and Suffolk over a 12-month period.

The court had heard how the dealers used their earnings from drug dealing to surround themselves with a lavish lifestyle with fast cars, jewellery and Rolex watches.

Traffic order gets Friday market moving

PLANS to move Haverhill's Friday market into the High Street have come a step closer after Suffolk County Council applied to vary the traffic order which bans cars from the road.

Traders say the current Friday market on the Market Square is struggling to survive, with fewer stalls and customers than the Saturday morning market, where stalls are set up along the High Street.

The county council has applied to prohibit vehicles from the High Street between Quakers Lane and Eden Road from 6am to 6pm on Fridays to allow the market to operate.

Exemptions for security vehicles, post office vehicles, vehicles displaying a delivery permit, authorised market traders, as well as wedding and funeral cars, will operate as on Saturdays.

Copies of the draft traffic order are available at Haverhill Library in Camps Road and objections or comments must be sent to Heather Miller (Legal Services) at Suffolk County Council, Endeavour House, 8 Russell Road, Ipswich IP1 2BX by July 8.

Expert duo bring skills to leisure trust board

A BUSINESS woman and a health expert have been appointed as trustees at Abbeycroft Leisure.

The group, which runs Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds leisure centres, welcomed brand manager Selina Austin and health improvement specialist Sally Hogg to its board. Abbeycroft Leisure is governed by an independent board of trustees made up of skilled volunteers, each with their own areas of expertise and interest.

Ms Austin is partner of creative agency The Design Office in Steeple Bumpstead, and a brand manager with more than 10 years marketing and design experience.

She said: "As a regular user of Haverhill Leisure Centre, I have a real interest in the local facilities and activities being offered by Abbeycroft.

"I hope that I can bring my experience as a user and my expertise in brand management to help raise the profile of this very important organisation in our community."

On board: Sally Hogg and Selina Austin.

Ms Hogg, head of health improvement partnerships with NHS Suffolk, has been one of the driving forces behind Healthy Ambitions Suffolk, an initiative to make Suffolk the UK's healthiest county by 2028. Its aim is to inspire everyone in the county to make small changes which will have a big impact on their health and wellbeing, in turn halting the rise in preventable illnesses such as diabetes, cancer and heart disease.

She said: "As a passionate advocate of getting people moving in Suffolk I am excited to be invited to sit on the board of trustees and to have a say in how Abbeycroft provides facilities and activities to encourage people in St Edmundsbury to be more active."

Warren Smyth, chief executive of Abbeycroft Leisure, said: "I am delighted that Selina and Sally have joined the board. They both bring with them a wealth of knowledge and experience that will be vital in taking forward Abbeycroft's facilities and activities in the future."

Abbeycroft Leisure was established in 2005 as a charitable leisure trust and an independent, registered company. It manages both Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds leisure centres in partnership with St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

More details about drug deals needed from writer

POLICE are urging an anonymous letter writer who passed on information about drug dealing on Haverhill's Clements estate to contact them again.

Sgt Sarah Bartley, of Haverhill police, said the force had received two letters from the man, who mentioned several addresses, but they needed more detailed information so action could be taken.

Sgt Bartley said he could

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

contact them anonymously and action could be taken without him needing to give a statement or go to court.

She said: "The message generally to people is that we will do something positive about it, but we need information from members of the public to act on.

"We closed down three crack houses in the town last year, which had a very positive effect, but we were only able to do so because of information from people who lived in the area.

"They did not need to go to court, we were able to take the action on their behalf. Anyone can speak to us in confidence and we will act on their information.

"There is not a huge problem of drug dealing in this town, but if there is dealing going on at the Clements estate, or elsewhere, we want to know about it so we can stamp it out.

"We can only do that with the help of the people who live there.

"We know people take drugs, but where there are dealers it can cause problems of anti-social behaviour, with people hanging about and needles found.

"There is always more to it than just a house. People living in the area must see things going on and we need them to tell us about it."

Dad's tall order at special visit

Special guest: Bartosz Teliczan entertaining the children on his stilts.

Pictures: Keith Jones 656153/5.

AN extra tall dad visited a pre-school group during Father's Week – with the help of stilts. Fathers were invited to try their hand at painting and gluing activities at the Happy Faces group in Haverhill.

Polish parent Bartosz Teliczan, whose son Daniel attends the group, made the day extra special for the children by walking along on his stilts.

Elaine Hatfield, leader of the group, said the youngsters were thrilled to see the 12 ft tall visitor. She said: "When we asked if the dads would like to come in he asked if we would like him to show them his stilt walking. He was so tall that they were absolutely fascinated. They were running through his legs and he was chasing them. They loved it."

The group is full, but to join the waiting list call (01440) 772515.

MP to revive college plan

AN MP is hoping to revive a plan to establish a further education college in his constituency which had been shelved through lack of funding.

Matthew Hancock, the newly elected West Suffolk MP, has written to David Willetts, Secretary of State for Universities and Science, to make a case for the bid to set up a trust by two schools in Haverhill, two in Cambridge, and West Suffolk College in Bury St Edmunds.

He says Haverhill's original bid was accepted by the previous administration about 18 months ago, but lost out when the funding collapsed.

He hopes the new Government's announcement of £50 million for further education funding means there is hope for areas like Haverhill to develop appropriate provision for those over 16 years old.

He wrote: "I wholeheartedly support the Haverhill bid on which so much work has already been done and so many hopes rest."

"Haverhill is a growing town with an expanding population and expanding businesses. The young people and potential workforce of Haverhill would benefit greatly from an educational trust which would include West Suffolk College as a trustee and provide vocational education in Haverhill within a town centre site instead of travelling to Bury St Edmunds 19 miles away.

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

"The continued growth and success of the local area would benefit from there being access to sufficient training and education locally for the local population. This is particularly true in such a rural area where alternative providers are often a significant distance away and affects especially the poor and unemployed which this proposal would do much to help.

"The proposal is to create a 'Haverhill Hub', a hard federation of five educational organisations in five distinct geographical locations, and is a modern and innovative approach to post-16 education.

"This proposal is visionary in what it aims to deliver and how it aims to deliver it. It does not respect boundaries of locality, institution or age and it overcomes the barriers of local competition, rural isolation and institutional capacity. It also puts the learner at the heart of the provision, not the institution.

"This proposal is exciting for the people of Haverhill and would help the area continue to flourish and evolve in an extremely positive way."

Careless driver sought by police

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after reports of careless driving in Haverhill where a driver almost collided with an oncoming vehicle.

The incident happened on Withersfield Road,

Haverhill, at about 2.15pm on Friday, June 18, between the Sainsbury's Roundabout and the Park Road/Focus store roundabout.

A black Vauxhall Vectra overtook two cars, almost colliding with an oncoming vehicle.

Police are appealing for any witnesses to call Sgt Darren Lamboll at Haverhill Neighbourhood Response Team on (01284) 774100.

Use retail site for housing

Sir, With reference to the future plans for the Project Office furniture site in Ehringhausen Way, Haverhill. Is there any reason why the area cannot be used for housing?

We are often being told by the Government that the Anglia region needs more housing and it seems to me that this would be ideal for affordable family homes. There are houses behind the area and houses in front, so a new estate would not be out of place.

The new homes would be in an ideal position for access to all Haverhill shops, leisure facilities etc, plus not too far from the bypass to reach the A1307 to get to Cambridge or the road to London. We should not think of building new shops until the high street's empty shops are filled. It's at least five years since the old Bowes and Bowes building was destroyed by fire, there are now two empty shops next to Hendersons, a large shop next to Glasswells, the old Lloyds TSB and several more. And that is without considering the Garteens buildings, some of which, I think, have been suggested for shops. There are plenty of areas along Hollands Road that could be used for the suggested retail park, so why is Ehringhausen Way being considered at all?

MEMORIES

Last week's Memories photograph, from our archives, showed Carol Johnson at a nursery school in Haverhill. It was taken in March, 1981.

Jo Taylor was one of the children pictured. She said: "It was me, Simon Johnson and Carol Johnson, who had opened Haverhill's first day nursery."

"Funnily enough, I have recently been clearing through some old belongings and came across the original clipping, but the photo on the original and the one you have used is slightly different."

Carol Palmer spotted herself in the picture too, along with son Simon, who is now 34.

Carol started the Toddlers Inn nursery at a house in Covehite Court in 1982. At the time it was the only nursery in Haverhill and she continued to run it until 1992. Her son Simon is pictured along with Joanne Taylor and Carol thinks he was around five at the time. She said the picture may have been taken when the nursery opened and before many children had joined. Carol said: "You had another picture in a few weeks ago of our Christmas party. We had loads of pictures taken at the time, but I think this could be the opening. I think we might have had someone local like Pc Begg in to open it."

"I closed it because I had worked with kids since I was 16 and I wanted to do something different."

No warning from scooter users

Sir, Why isn't a form of warning fitted to mobility scooters? You are walking along and the next thing one is right behind you. I am lucky to have sensitive hearing but a lot of people have not. You would not mind if people using them said 'excuse me', but they do not. It is the same with cycles – no bell and in a lot of cases no lights. I was given to understand cycles had to be fitted with a bell and lights.

Golfers chip in for hospice

GOLFERS will be teeing off for charity on Saturday when Haverhill Golf Club and Haverhill and District Rotary Club host this year's Charity Golf Classic.

As with last year, the main beneficiary of the event, run in conjunction with the Weekly News, will be St Nicholas Hospice.

To date the annual golf day has raised more than £120,000. Organisers say this would not have

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

been possible without the support from local people and businesses. This year's main sponsors are Printwise, Suffolk Insurance Consultants and M.J. Pipe and Glass-fusion Ltd.

The event has received many donations and contributions from local businesses, and Chapmans have again donated a flat screen television for the main raffle and Stylise Display Graphics, together with Chapel Independent Financial Advisers, has donated nearest the pin prizes.

It promises to be a fun day for golfers. As well as main prizes there will be 'nearest the pin' prizes on all short holes, a 'longest drive' competition and a putting competition worth £100.

A free barbecue will be held on the ninth hole courtesy of J R Humphrey Family Butchers, of Clare, and a 'double your money' opportunity if players hit the green on the 16th with the tee shot.

The day will conclude with a golf trick shot show by Kevin Carpenter and an evening of live entertainment from Jed Stone, who will conduct an auction with the main lot a hot air balloon ride, donated by David Rawlings, of Haverhill PC Bureau.

To sign up for the day, phone Chris Briggs on (01440) 703769 during work hours or contact Haverhill Golf Club.

Good grades: the leisure centre duty managers receive their certificates.

Leisure centre staff pass management test

DUTY managers from Haverhill Leisure Centre have gained a national qualification in supervisory management from the Institute of Sport and Recreation Management (ISRM).

The 12-day course covered employment practice in sport and recreation, finance and administration of sport and recreation, and sports services operations.

Duty managers Denise Garnham, Ryan Davies and Dan Weaver from Haverhill Leisure Centre, as well as Martin Hewitson, Tracy Leuty, Carl Deeks and Rebecca Bowden from Bury Leisure Centre successfully completed the qualification.

Denise gained a Distinction on the final module.

West Suffolk College applied for £8,000 from the Government-funded Skills Active EastLinks Leading The Field Project on behalf of Abbeycroft Leisure, which enabled all duty managers to complete the national qualification at the same time.

Warren Smyth, chief executive of Abbeycroft Leisure, said: "All our managers are now qualified to industry standard and this is a commitment to our staff to invest in their professional development and enhance their career pathways."

Tutor Mike Shuff, of Ital Academy, said: "Just getting a pass in this course is the equivalent of getting 70 per cent, which just shows the high standard these people have achieved."

£10k boost for sports facilities

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

FOOTBALLERS and tennis players will benefit from grants totalling almost £10,000 from Havebury's Community Investment Fund (CIF).

Each year the CIF has £50,000 available in grants to support local community initiatives.

A new community football project will soon officially open its doors at Chalkstone Playing Fields, thanks in part to a £5,000 grant, and Haverhill Tennis Club is the proud owner of a new clubhouse, thanks to a grant of £4,665.

The £1.9 million football scheme has been set up to create facilities for senior, youth and junior men and women players in the area, including a new clubhouse with a meeting room, changing facilities, treatment room and spectator stand.

The project, which is backed by the Football Association and Suffolk FA, has received £1.4 million funding from St Edmundsbury Borough Council, with further grants from the Football Foundation, Football Stadia Improvement Fund and Haverhill Town Council.

Havebury's grant has been used for the final fitting out of the scheme.

Cllr Lynsey Alexander, portfolio holder for culture and sport for St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said: "I would like to express my appreciation for Havebury's contribution to the social facilities for this exciting new project for Haverhill."

When complete, the tennis club's £30,000 building will provide social and changing facilities for the club's 140 members, who range in age from older adults to small children.

Committee social secretary Stephen Williams, said: "Before the clubhouse was built we had nowhere to change, socialise or entertain visiting clubs. We pride ourselves on being a friendly club and hope the new facilities will attract members to come along and enjoy the whole experience!"

Bid online for dream placement

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

WORK experience in San Francisco or Monaco is up for grabs in a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for Haverhill youngsters.

The High Sheriff of Suffolk, Tessa Innes, has organised an auction of work experience placements to help youngsters aged 18 to 25 get a foot on the career ladder.

Among the impressive list of lots is a chance to work for a yachting company in Monaco and the marketing department in a San Francisco software firm.

Other opportunities are available at a host of leading companies across Suffolk and London. Roles range from landscape gardening, yachting, banking, food and hospitality, fashion design, marketing and journalism.

Mrs Innes, who was appointed High Sheriff in April, said she came up with the auction idea, which will be run online, after reading about the problems youngsters had gaining employment.

She added: "I am hoping many students will be thinking ahead to the summer and what opportunities they would like to help them fulfil their career aspirations."

"Many of the companies who have agreed to take part in this project would never normally offer work experience placements so these really are sought-after positions and some have said if the candidate impresses them there may even be a salaried job for them eventually."

But it's not just youngsters who will benefit. Money raised by the auction will help local hospices.

Ms Innes added: "I hope the online auction will support our young people in the community and by doing so they will be in turn helping Suffolk's hospices to continue to provide their important services."

Bids start from £50 and all proceeds will be shared between St Nicholas Hospice Care, East Anglia's Children's Hospices and St Elizabeth Hospice in Ipswich.

Mrs Innes was joined by a number of friends to help persuade around 60 local, national and international companies to offer between one and four-week work placements.

Other opportunities are available at Christie's auction house, The Royal Academy of the Arts, the Suffolk Food Hall and Aldeburgh Music at Snape Maltings Concert Hall, among others.

Mrs Innes hopes parents and grandparents will bid to support their relatives' career hopes.

For more information, or to make a bid, visit www.steliza.bethhospice.org.uk/auction before 5pm on Wednesday.

Festival showcases youth talent

MORE than 300 schoolchildren will perform on a professional open air stage at this year's Haverhill Schools' Music Festival.

The festival, sponsored by the Haverhill Town Council, will take place on Thursday, July 1.

2010 is a bumper year, with the majority of schools in and around Haverhill involved, including Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, Castle Hill, Clare and Parkway middle schools, and Burton End, Coupals, Clements, Hundon, Kedington, Thurlow and Westfield primary schools.

Due to the growing success of the festival, this year's event is being held in an open air setting on the playing fields at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College.

The festival has become a showcase of the talent of Haverhill's young musicians – the quality of the music and production improves year by year.

Gates will open at 6pm, where Castle

Manor's band Nice Manors will entertain the audience, who are encouraged to bring a picnic and blanket/folding chair. A barbecue and refreshments will be available.

The concert will start at 7pm and finish at 9pm. Tickets are priced at £3 for adults and £2 for concessions and are available from Ms T. North on (01440) 705501 ext. 223.

The concert will feature four collaborative songs that all schools will sing and perform together, comprising Proud by Heather

Small, Lovely Day by Bill Withers, Rule The World by Take That, and a specially commissioned song by local musician Kirsten Gunderson entitled Forever's In Our Hands.

'Local' approach to planning welcomed

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

GOVERNMENT plans to abolish regional special strategies could mean some developments in Haverhill may be shelved and others could now go ahead.

The town's new MP, Matthew Hancock, has welcomed the plans and has asked the House of Commons how quickly it could take effect.

The change means that local councils like St Edmundsbury would not be forced by central Government to accept levels of new housing which they did not feel appropriate.

It means retail developments, such as plans for the former Project Office Furniture site in Haverhill, would not be ruled out because they failed to meet national sequential testing for retail development.

Mr Hancock, who joined residents of Newmarket in successfully opposing a new housing scheme in the town, said while development had been positive in Haverhill and some local councils may actually encourage, rather than discourage development, but the impetus needs to come from local people.

Mr Hancock said: "I think it is a positive thing because it puts the decision-making in the hands of local people and elected politicians instead of some inspector in Bristol.

"Instead of having something inappropriate imposed on them from above, it will become a local question where development goes and how much.

"There will no longer be this formulaic approach which treats every town as being the same, but a much more flexible approach to residential and other types of planning."

Greg Clark, Minister of State (Decentralisation) Community and Local Government, told Mr Hancock that the Secretary of State had written to all local councils saying he expected them to regard the abolition as a "material planning consideration" in any decisions they are currently making.

Haverhill town clerk Gordon Mussett said the town council had been asked to consider the implications of the changes on the Local Development Framework, and believed it would like to see more development in the town, not less.

As a planning inspector has downgraded Wickhambrook from a key service centre to a local service centre in the plan, extra housing planned for that village will now have to go elsewhere.

Bike show roars into town

A FAMILY motorbike show on Saturday hopes to raise vital funds for emergency medical charity Magpas.

Now in its fourth year, the Castle Camps bike show will feature 'best in class' competitions for all types of motorbikes, as well as a hog roast, refreshments and a variety of stalls and activities for the whole family.

Organisers hope to top the £200 raised for Magpas last year.

The show will be held on Castle Camps recreation ground from 2-6pm and entry costs £3 per adult, with free entry for children and seniors.

Helpers lend a hand to keep show running

THE Haverhill Show will take place next weekend.

This year's show had looked in doubt due to falling committee numbers, but more helpers have come forward to help run it, including the Round Table.

The show, run in association with the Weekly News, has for many years been the main fundraiser for LAMPH, the Haverhill-based charity for children and adults with disabilities.

Earlier this year, the Weekly News published an appeal for more helpers to stage the show on Saturday, July 3 and Sunday, July 4, at the recreation ground in Camps Road.

Mick Driver, chairman of the show's organising committee, said there had a "very good" response, with seven new people coming forward. Haverhill Round Table also rallied round to help, with members Charles Gurteen and Kevin Jackson organising a stand on the day to tell people about their organisation and attract new members.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Mr Driver said: "We did get quite a few new members from the appeal, but if anyone else would like to come along and help or they have a classic car or a bike to bring along on the day they are very welcome."

The show will have the usual car boot sale on Saturday and Sunday from 8am and people are welcome to bring their cars along and join in on the day.

A hot air balloon will be tethered at the showground and people will be able to take a ride.

At 10am on Sunday, a church service will officially open the show, with the baby show starting at 10am and the dog show at 11.30am.

Other arena attractions will include: 11am, Colette's School of Dance; 11.30am, security dog demonstration; noon, Alison Sargent's School of Dance; 12.30pm Colette's School of Dance; 1pm, Two Man Tent Show; 1.30pm, Tan Soo Doo display; 2.30pm, Dells School of Dance; 3pm, fancy dress and crazy bike riding; 4pm, raffle and balloon release; 4.30pm, security dog demonstration.

Office share in cost-cutting bid

POLICE officers and council staff will be sharing offices in Suffolk as part of a cost-cutting collaboration.

Suffolk County Council (SCC) and the Suffolk Police Authority (SPA) are embarking on a collaborative programme which will see both organisations sharing accommodation in Ipswich.

Both organisations are anticipating future cuts in public sector funding and, in line with the Single Public Sector Estate agenda for Suffolk, aim to create buildings where staff from any public or partner organisation can work.

The programme is in its early stages and will involve the joint purchase and occupation of St Edmund House and Landmark House, alongside the vacation of a number of SCC and SPA premises. The programme is expected to be completed by mid 2013.

County councillor Jane Storey, portfolio holder for resource management and transformation, said: "Both organisations need to continue to obtain value for money and maximum efficiency as well as ensuring the property remains fit for purpose for customers and staff. There will be efficiencies by sharing accommodation and we are committed to working with other key partners in Suffolk to maximise this approach. Working together will make things more affordable."

Colin Spence, chairman of Suffolk Police Authority, said: "This exciting project will see key public sector agencies working in partnership to provide improved services to the people of Suffolk. Moving to shared premises will create efficiencies, while continuing to put the public and their needs at the forefront of service delivery."

Popular tournament is a great charity fundraiser.

Haverhill Golf Club & The Haverhill & District Rotary Club in conjunction with The Haverhill Weekly News, will be holding this year's Charity Golf Classic on Saturday 26th June.

As of last year, the man beneficiary will be St Nicholas Hospice. To date the annual golf day has raised over £120,000. This would not be possible without the generous support from local people and business. Special mention this year must go to our main sponsors, PRINTWISE who always contribute so much to local project, SUFFOLK INSURANCE CONSULTANTS & M.J. PIPE who are returning for their second year as main sponsors of this event and GLASSFUSION LTD.

The event would not be the same without donations and contributions from local businesses. Again CHAPMANS & SON have donated a flat screen TV for the main raffle and STYLISE DISPLAY GRAPHICS together with CHAPEL INDEPENDENT FINANCIAL ADVISERS have donated nearest the pin prizes.

It will be a fun day for all the Golfers, as well as main prizes there will be nearest the pin prizes on all short holes a longest drive completion and a putting completion worth £100. A free BBQ will be held on the 9th hole courtesy of J R HUMPHREY Family Butchers of Clare and a double your money opportunity if you hit the green on the 16th with your Tee shot.

The day will conclude with a golf trick shot show by the amazing Kevin Carpenter and an evening of live entertainment from Jed Stone who will conduct an auction where the main item is a Hot Air Balloon Ride donated by David Rawlings of HAVERHILL PC BUREAU.

If you would like to play in the event please ring Christ Briggs on 01440 703769 during work hours or contact Haverhill Golf Club.

Harvesting: Cub Scouts from the 2nd Haverhill Cub Scout Pack planting their seeds.

Scouts dig in for nature badge

A GROUP of Cub Scouts have been getting green fingered thanks to the BBC Dig In Campaign.

Members of 2nd Haverhill Cub Scout Pack joined the scheme, which aims to get people growing their own vegetables and provides seeds for groups to sow and grow.

The town's Focus store donated enough compost for all of the Cubs to plant courgette, carrot, haricot bean, basil and salad seeds during recent meeting nights.

The Cubs will care for their seeds at home as part of their Naturalist Activity Badge and hopefully harvest vegetables later in the year.

Bird bath targeted

THIEVES attempted to remove a concrete bird bath from the back garden of a house at Burton End, Haverhill, between 7pm on Monday, June 14 and 8am on Tuesday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

CD player taken in theft

A JVC car radio CD player and 10 CDs were stolen from a blue Ford Ka after it was broken into while parked at Betony Walk, Haverhill, between 8pm on Monday, June 14 and 9.10am on Tuesday.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Thieves hit bike shed

A BOY'S black Mongoose BMX bicycle and a men's green Mongoose mountain bike were stolen from the bike sheds of Chalkstone Middle School grounds in Millfields Way, Haverhill, between 8.30am and 10.20am on Wednesday, June 9. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Cricket gear is stolen

A BAG of children's cricket equipment was stolen from a shed at Place Farm Primary School in Camps Road, Haverhill, between 6pm on Monday, June 14 and midnight on Tuesday. Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley at Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Take step forward and help to Bridge the Gap

THE date has been set for this year's Bridge the Gap walk in Cambridge.

More than 2,000 walkers are expected to take to the city's streets on Sunday, September 12, giving walkers on the five-mile route a behind-the-scenes view of 10 Cambridge University colleges.

The walk is now in its ninth year and it will benefit the Arthur Rank Hospice Charity and Press Relief, the community fund run by our sister paper, the Cambridge News.

Last year's event attracted a record 2,522 walkers and they raised a fantastic £38,000. In its eight years to date, Bridge the Gap has raised more than £260,000 for several charities.

This year's event was launched at the St Andrew's Street branch of the Cambridge Building Society, the walk's headline sponsor.

Stephen Mitcham, chief executive, said: "We like supporting events such as this. It gives us the opportunity to break out from the business world and get involved with the community of which we are an integral part."

This year's walk wends its way through the colleges of Magdalene, St John's, Clare, St Catharine's, Darwin, Corpus Christi, Pembroke, Downing, Christ's and Jesus.

Sue Long, festivals and outreach officer for Cambridge University, a partner of the event, thanked all the colleges for opening their buildings and gardens to the public. She said: "Last year one person said to me: 'I've lived in Cambridge for 30 years and I'd never seen what was behind that fence. I never knew there was such a beautiful garden there.' You hear that all the time."

Staff from Cambridge University Press, another walk partner, are regular participants in the walk. Heidi Mulvey, community relations manager, said: "It feels like a staff event because so many people bring their families. What's nice about this event is it grows and grows. It's a lovely day out."

The walk has raised almost £100,000 for Arthur Rank over the years.

Dr Lynn Morgan, chief executive of the Arthur Rank Hospice Charity, said: "This event is hugely important for us. The money that comes in really makes a difference. It touches lives and makes lives a little better."

Andy Gough, chairman of the Press Relief trustees, thanked CBS and regular supporters of the event and urged people to take to the streets. He said: "It is an excellent opportunity to raise money for good causes while having a great family day out."

The Society of Cambridge Tourist Guides will be providing an expert insight with information and answering questions.

One new attraction for 2010 is the Cambridge Union Society, the oldest and most prestigious student debating society in the world. Participants will also have the chance to enjoy the revamped Scott Polar Research Institute.

Walkers can complete the route as individuals, as a family, with a community group or as part of a corporate team on a wheelchair and pushchair-friendly route. Participants can set off any time between 9.30am and 11am from Jesus Green.

The Cambridge News and the Rotary Club of Cambridge are event partners while the supporters are the Greater Cambridge Partnership, Cambridge Assessment and the TTP Group.

Deli café Origin8, in St Andrew's Street, will provide lunches for volunteers on the day. Cambridge Water will provide bottled water and Cambridge Sound is providing the PA system.

It costs £10 to take part if you enter before September 1 and £15 after that date. It is free for under-16s. As a memento, walkers can buy a T-shirt for £6.

For more details, entry and sponsorship forms, call (01223) 723115 or visit www.bridgethegapwalk.org.

Sent your form to Bridge the Gap, Press Relief, Cambridge Newspapers, Winship Road, Milton CB24 6PP.

Jamie's on top of the world after life-threatening illness

Back to fitness: Jamie got in training for the climb by carrying a rucksack full of books.

Picture: Steve Weemes 652287.

STANDING on top of Kilimanjaro, watching the sun rise into a brilliant blue sky, Jamie Curtis had never felt more alive. After a gruelling climb to the summit – a staggering 5,985m above sea level – the 42-year-old couldn't believe he'd made it.

Scaling Africa's highest mountain would be an achievement for anyone; for Jamie, who was battling back from a life-threatening illness, it was incredible.

"When I got to the top it was overwhelming: I actually cried," Jamie admits. "It was a ridiculously good feeling. I wish I could describe it in better words... It made me realise that, if you put your mind to it, you can do anything: anything is possible."

Just three years earlier, Jamie was in intensive care fighting for his life. He'd contracted meningitis – a potentially lethal brain infection.

"The doctors thought I was going to die," explains Jamie. "I was in intensive care for six days, in hospital for a month. And it took me about a year, at least a year, to really recover. But I was lucky: I'm still here."

Causing damage to his inner ear, the illness left Jamie with no sense of balance – something which made conquering Kilimanjaro very tough at times. "On the final day we were walking through the early hours of the morning, so we could reach the summit for sunrise," adds Jamie. "When I can see, my balance is alright; stupidly, I told myself there would be enough natural light for me to see where I was going..."

"In fact, it was really dark. I kept stumbling; it was a struggle for me to walk in a straight line, to be honest. I was also exhausted and oxygen levels were pretty low... So it's fair to say it was a challenge."

But, thanks to his own determination and the support of a guide (Jamie held his arm to help stay steady), he made it to the top of the mountain. It was, admits Jamie, a truly proud moment.

Jamie, who lives in the Haverhill village of Withersfield, had fallen ill just before Christmas 2006. "It started with a headache, nothing out of the ordinary," he remembers. "And then I thought it was turning into flu."

On December 22, suffering from aches, pains and a fever, Jamie took to his bed. The next day, he stayed in bed all day. On Christmas Eve, feeling increasingly weak, he decided it was time to visit a doctor.

"By then I felt really rough," he remembers. "I was pouring with sweat and I still had this awful headache. I don't know quite how I managed it, but I drove myself to see the GP."

Diagnosed with flu, which he'd suspected, Jamie was sent home and instructed to rest, take painkillers and drink plenty of water. He did as he was told – all to no avail.

"I couldn't get out of bed at all on Christmas Day," he recounts. "Finally I made it to the bathroom, where I passed out on the floor."

"When I came round I crawled back into the bedroom and called the doctor; I didn't even have the energy to call out to my housemate, who was celebrating Christmas with some mates in the next room.

"The first they knew about it was a knock on the door and a man saying 'Er, I think your friend has collapsed'..."

Rushed to hospital, Jamie was swiftly diagnosed with meningitis (an inflammation of the meninges, the protective membrane which shrouds the brain and spinal column). Although he hadn't developed a rash, a characteristic of meningitis, Jamie couldn't rest his chin on his chest without agonising pain – another classic symptom of the condition. Tests on his spinal fluid, extracted by lumbar puncture, confirmed the diagnosis.

"I knew it was bad," remembers Jamie. "Every time I tried to move my head it felt like something was crushing it."

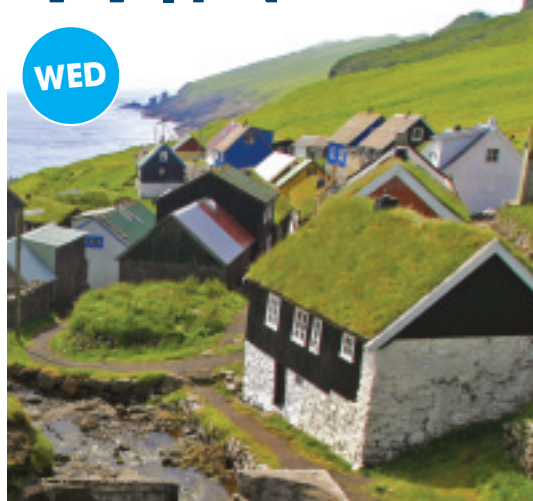

Given intravenous antibiotics and put on oxygen, Jamie was placed in intensive care. For the next few days, he was barely conscious; that time passed, he explains, "in a total blur". Reacting badly to one of the drugs he was prescribed, one thing he does recall is suffering vivid hallucinations.

Jamie's family were told his condition was critical. But, amazingly, he started to rally; after a week in intensive care, he was declared out of danger.

In total, Jamie was in Addenbrooke's for a month; over that time, he lost a scary two stones in weight. "I never carried much weight in the first place," he adds, "so I looked pretty gaunt. And I had a beard. My mum says I looked like Tom Hanks in Castaway..."

Jamie says the team at Addenbrooke's saved his life; he makes no bones about it. "They were brilliant, I can never thank them enough," he adds.

The first to admit he's a determined character, if someone tells Jamie he can't do something, he says he feels compelled to prove them wrong. "Like an idiot I decided to go back to work far sooner than I should have," adds Jamie with a wry smile. "But I quickly learned my lesson."

Gradually building up his energy and fitness levels, Jamie says it took 12 months to really feel normal again. It was during his recovery period that doctors discovered the legacy from the meningitis: a damaged inner ear – which destroyed his sense of balance.

"I was bumping into things; at first I thought it was just exhaustion," continues Jamie. "But then they found this problem with my inner ear – and told me I'd never be able to do certain things, like ride a bike, again."

Typically, Jamie pledged to get back on a bike. "I fell off the first few times; once I almost broke my shoulder," he says, grinning. "But I'm getting there."

Throwing himself back into work, along with a busy social life, Jamie says life began to return to normal.

Then, while reading the Sunday Times one weekend, he had what he describes as his "Eureka! moment": he spotted an advert from the WSPA, the World Society for the Protection of Animals, calling for volunteers to take part in a sponsored Kilimanjaro climb.

For a man with a damaged sense of balance, mountain climbing doesn't sound like a natural choice – but Jamie says he was immediately taken with the idea.

"When you go through an illness like that, it does change the way you look at things," he explains. "I knew I was lucky to have survived and, unlike many meningitis survivors, lucky not to have lost a limb or something like that. I knew I was lucky to be alive – and I wanted to make the most of it."

The climb combined three goals, adds Jamie: getting back to full fitness, rising to a real challenge – and helping a good cause at the same time.

Signing up, Jamie threw himself into a rigorous training regime. "I was physically pretty fit before I fell ill, but even then I hadn't trained to do any kind of endurance event; I hadn't even climbed a hill," he laughs.

Doing dawn work-outs with a personal trainer, Jamie also took to hiking five or six miles every night after work. "I'd load up a rucksack with books and go into Haverhill and just walk," recalls Jamie, an estate agent and now branch manager of TuckerGardner in Histon.

"It wasn't easy, juggling everything. I've always worked hard and I'd just started a new job, so I had quite a bit on my plate."

After training trips to Snowdon and the Lakes, Jamie says his confidence started to grow. "That's when I thought 'I can do this'," he remembers. And sponsorship started to flood in: to date, Jamie has raised £2,400 for the WSPA.

But, flying out to Africa to embark on the mammoth five-day climb, Jamie says the trip got off to a poor start. "I had this horrible headache," he explains. "I took painkillers, but I just couldn't get rid of it..."

Part of a 27-strong group of climbers, Jamie says they soon got to know each other and their team of guides. Buddied with a guy who'd been crippled by polio and relied on crutches to walk, he says seeing the determination of those around him really spurred him on. "It made me think 'What have I got to complain about?'" he adds.

Setting off on the first day's hiking, Jamie says he was struck by the stunning scenery all around. "We started out in lush rainforest and then, as we got higher, we were surrounded by volcanic rock – huge boulders," he recalls.

By the end of that first day, though, Jamie's headache was even worse. And, suffering the onset of altitude sickness, he felt too nauseous to eat. "It was the night from hell," he says, shaking his head. "I was awake all night, I'd hardly eaten anything, it felt as if someone was stabbing my head..." At that point I was seriously thinking of turning back: I didn't think I could go ahead and walk for another eight hours, I just felt so terrible."

But, after a visit from the team medic, who prescribed anti-sickness meds and some serious painkillers, Jamie decided to soldier on. Though the following days were physically tiring and oxygen levels and temperatures were dropping, he says it was "the experience of a lifetime".

Then, on that final day, Jamie's balance problem started to cause him real difficulty; again, he questioned whether he could make it to the summit.

"A guide let me hold his arm so I could hold myself upright," Jamie explains. "But we had to stop every couple of minutes. It was tough going."

Finally reaching the top of Kilimanjaro in time to see the sun bursting into the sky, Jamie says the sense of achievement was unparalleled. In fact, it's inspired him to sign up for yet more challenges: currently training for a half-marathon, he also plans to walk the Great Wall of China and do a sponsored bike ride.

He said: "It's like I said, all this has made me realise that, if you're determined and really set your mind to it, you can achieve amazing things." ● Jamie is still collecting sponsorship in aid of the WSPA. # Food labelling to help buyers

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SUFFOLK'S Euro MP is championing moves for clearer labelling on food to be made compulsory.

The amount of salt, fat and sugar contained in processed food will now have to be clearly displayed on the front of packaging after a vote in the European Parliament.

With shoppers taking just four seconds to decide what to put in their trolleys, the approval is a victory for consumers who need all the help they can get when deciding if certain food is healthy.

The decision is a defeat for manufacturers, who were pushing for back of packet labelling only.

Labour's Richard Howitt MEP, a consumer rights campaigner, said: "If we're serious about tackling heart disease and obesity, we have to help people understand how much salt, fat and sugar is in their food."

"That's particularly true for products like ready meals and pre-packed sandwiches where the label is the only way of knowing how healthy something is.

Healthy eating: MEP Richard Howitt.

"These new rules will give Suffolk shoppers a fighting chance in the battle for a healthier diet. The labelling requirements will make it easier to know at a glance what is in our food.

"Food manufacturers have spent so much time and money on trying to avoid giving their own customers honest information about what we eat."

"Now European law will require them to do so."

Burglaries prompt warning

POLICE are warning people to close and lock their windows and doors at night after a spate of burglaries in the same street.

The latest break-in at Brickfields, Haverhill, was between 9pm on Friday, June 18 and 8am on Saturday.

The various items stolen included a men's brown Fossil wallet, a Sony video camera, an Olympus digital camera, a Wii games console, a Wii Fit, an Xbox games console with games and a 42in Plasma screen television.

Police are linking this incident to two other burglaries reported in the same street between Wednesday, June 9 and Thursday, June 10, with cash, laptops, mobiles phones and other items taken.

Sgt Sarah Bartley, of Haverhill Police, reminded people during the summer months to make sure doors and windows are closed and locked, particularly at night.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to DC 890 Paul Gant at Bury CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Callow's search for the real Bard

STAGE and screen legend Simon Callow returns to Cambridge this week on the trail of the world's most famous playwright in Shakespeare – The Man From Stratford, a new comedy by Shakespeare scholar Jonathan Bate.

Shakespeare is the greatest writer the world has ever known. But we know nothing about him. Or do we?

The play, directed by Tom Cairns, brings to life both the man and the unforgettable characters – lovers, kings, soldiers and clowns – who have since conquered the world's stages.

The national tour began at the Theatre Royal Plymouth and will include a four-week residency at the Assembly Hall during the Edinburgh Festival Fringe, as well as stopping off at Cambridge Arts Theatre this week.

Shakespeare – The Man From Stratford follows Simon Callow's huge international success with The Mystery of Charles Dickens and his recent sell-out hit Dr Marigold and Mr Chops.

Callow's many films include A Room with a View, Maurice, Four Weddings and a Funeral, Shakespeare in Love, and Christmas Carol: The Movie.

He also appeared on the small screen in Rome, Tom Chance in a Million and as Charles Dickens in an episode of Doctor Who.

Writer Jonathan Bate is the pre-eminent Shakespeare biographer and editor of the Royal Shakespeare Company's Shakespeare: The Complete Works.

He is also currently Professor of Shakespeare and Renaissance Literature at the University of Warwick and a governor of the Royal Shakespeare Company.

His book, The Genius of Shakespeare, is widely held as one of the best modern books on the Bard, and his most recent book, Soul of the Age: The Life, Mind and World of William Shakespeare, was published last year.

Cairns is a director, writer and designer. For theatre, his work includes director and designer of The Music Teacher, off-Broadway, director and designer of Phaedra, and director of All About My Mother at the Old Vic, and The Odyssey and Aristocrats at the National.

In opera, he has directed and designed for the English National Opera, Glyndebourne Opera, Opera North and directed the Olivier Award-winning The Tempest at the Royal Opera House.

His work in film and television includes director and screenwriter of the film Marie and Bruce, starring Julianne Moore and Matthew Broderick, and director of the award-winning TV mini-series Amongst Women, starring Tony Doyle, Ger Ryan, Anne-Marie Duff and Susan Lynch.

MUSIC

Disco dancin' with the Queens

DIG out those flares and platforms and get ready to dance as the internationally acclaimed Spirit Productions brings us Dancing Queen – a glittering, riotous show for all party-lovers. Celebrating timeless hits from the pop phenomenon Abba, and hot on the heels of the huge success of the Broadway musical Mamma Mia, this latest production is a non-stop, fun-filled party for everyone.

This high octave, musical extravaganza will include all your favourite Abba hits, from Money, Money, Money, Fernando and Voulez Vous to Take A Chance and many more. The show also features a medley of other party classics from the 70s, including a dazzling compilation of highlights from Saturday Night Fever. Spirit Productions have been behind many a sensation, including the award-winning Irish dance spectacular Spirit of the Dance, and have performed in Las Vegas and around the world.

It's on at the Cambridge Corn Exchange until Saturday. For more information including times and ticket prices, contact (01223) 357 851 / www.comex.co.uk

Riotous romp back on stage

THE classic comedy Charley's Aunt returns to Cambridge at the ADC Theatre.

This Brandon Thomas light-hearted farce makes ideal summertime entertainment. It was first performed at the Theatre Royal, Bury St Edmunds, in 1892, transferring to the West End for a run of 1,466 performances. Since then hardly a week passes without this enjoyable and innocent romp being performed at a theatre somewhere.

This Combined Actors production, directed by Margaret Thorp, runs from Tuesday until Saturday, July 3, at 7.45pm and a Saturday matinee at 2.30pm.

For ticket details, contact www.adc.theatre.com / (01223) 300 085.

Rib-tickling week ahead as funnymen pay a visit

THE Haverhill Festival continues with Made in Haverhill, showcasing a series of films created by young people in the town.

It screens tonight at the Haverhill Arts Centre at 7.30pm. Entry is free. Come and see how talented local youngsters are.

■ One of the country's finest and most original comedians and impressionists, Phil Cool, returns to the arts centre tomorrow.

He is legendary for his facial contortion expertise and as a stand-up chameleon, punctuates his show with a wealth of hilarious anecdotes, observations and routines that make him as funny and unique as he was in the 1980s.

The show starts at 7.30pm.

■ Known to millions through his radio broadcasting, numerous TV appearances and his books, Rabbi Lionel Blue makes a welcome return to Haverhill on Sunday at 8pm, with a selection of stories, incidents and conversations whose doty, inconsequential flavour will appeal to people from all religions – and from none.

■ One of the world's leading interpreters of the theatre organ, Robert Wolfe, will be back at the arts centre on Tuesday at 7.30pm.

■ Join comedian, writer, broadcaster and all-round British institution Arthur Smith for a night of hilarity, mirth and scandal... with a touch of rudeness thrown in for good measure!

Smith is a BBC regular, well known for his appearances on TV's Grumpy

Old Men, Q.I., Have I Got News For You, Radio 4's Loose Ends, and Radio 2's Smith Lectures. His recently published memoirs, My Name Is Daphne Fairfax, has won praise from literary critics.

He is also an Olivier award nominated playwright for An Evening With Gary Lineker.

Smith will be at the arts centre on Wednesday from 8pm.

■ One of the most thrilling and unforgettable spectacles in world music, The Master Drummers of Africa – featuring drummers from 10 nations representing over 300 tribes of Africa – will visit on Thursday, July 1.

In a dynamic stage show they create an ecstatic sound straight from the heart of African culture from 7.30pm.

■ One of the leading lights of the English folk scene, Kathryn Tickell, will be at the arts centre with her band on Friday, July 2 at 8pm.

Kathryn is considered the foremost exponent of the Northumbrian pipes, playing with Sting, The Chieftains, Andy Sheppard and many others.

She learned in the traditional way from old shepherd musicians in outlying hill farms in Northumberland and is now considered one of the world's great players. The band also features Julian Sutton on melodeon (also of the Kate Rusby Band), Joss Clapp on acoustic bass guitar, and younger brother Peter Tickell (also of The Peatbog Faeries) on fiddle.

■ For more details about the shows, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

Buskers set to hit streets

CAMBRIDGE'S streets will soon be alive with the sound of music as the city stages its third annual Buskers & Street Performers Festival.

It takes place from Thursday, July 1 to Saturday, July 3.

The festival is put together by the City Centre Management team at Cambridge City Council. Spokeswoman Heather Bevan-Hunt said: "Street performers from all over the region and beyond will be taking part.

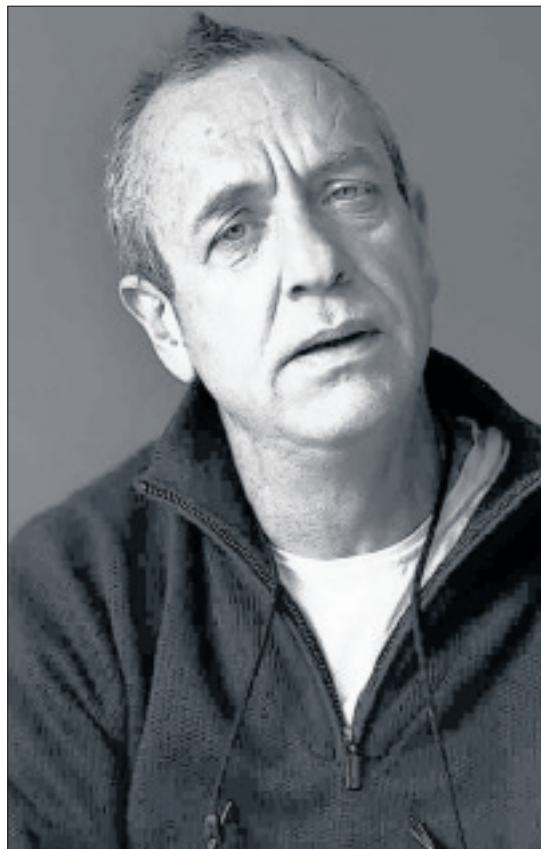

"Apart from wanting to celebrate the variety of talent we have in Cambridge city centre, we are also launching a new and revised Street Performers' Code of Practice, so that we can increase awareness among performers of the need to adhere to this.

"The mayor will officially open the festival at 11am on the steps of the Guildhall on Thursday, July 1, followed by a performance from Gavin Adam Wood, winner of the Buskers & Street Performers Festival 2009.

"Since winning last year's festival Gavin has played the Club Tent at the Cambridge Folk Festival and at the Cambridge Christmas Lights switch-on."

Shoppers and other users in the city centre will get the chance to vote for their favourite buskers during the festival.

The big film

KILLERS (12A, 100 mins)
Action/Comedy/Romance.
Katherine Heigl, Ashton Kutcher, Catherine O'Hara, Tom Selleck, Casey Wilson, Kevin Sussman.
Director: Robert Luketic.

HONESTY is the cornerstone of any healthy and long-lasting relationship, but perhaps it is sometimes wiser to keep a secret than to share it with a loved one.

If Robert Luketic's action-packed romantic comedy is to be believed – and it is an almighty stretch – men are capable of hiding everything from their nearest and dearest.

In the case of the film's charming hero, he manages to meet, woo and marry the woman of his dreams without revealing a vital part of his genetic make-up.

His unsuspecting wife will definitely regret her wedding vows to love him 'til death us do part.

Jen Kornfeldt (Heigl) doesn't believe that she will ever fall in love again after her current boyfriend dumps her.

Consigned to life as a singleton, Jen reluctantly goes on holiday with her overly protective pilot father (Selleck) and boozy mother (O'Hara) to the French Riviera where she meets handsome consultant, Spencer Aimes (Kutcher).

Jen is instantly attracted to his washboard stomach and warm smile, and the couple enjoy a slightly drunken first date. Three years later, Jen is married to Spencer and happily settled in a close-knit community with white picket fences and kooky neighbours.

Alas, Spencer has been keeping a tiny secret: he is an international spy and assassin, who retired from active duty but has now been marked for death.

When Jen is caught in the middle of a gunfight, she finally realises the full horror of her situation as sidekick to a trained killer. "So what am I, Pussy Galore?" she shrieks.

"Not that I know of," retorts Spencer "So now you're complaining about our sex life?!" counters Jen angrily, her rosy future shattered to smithereens.

Killers is an odd mishmash of genres, veering wildly from action to comedy and back again, sometimes in a single scene. Kutcher and Heigl are far better than the screenplay, which reduces the former to shirtless eye candy and the latter to an unadventurous homemaker.

Spencer tries to justify his interest in Jen by telling his handler, "She's normal and I feel normal when I'm with her. I like that." If he says so. On-screen chemistry simmers but never catches fire, extinguished almost entirely by the stunt-laden finale.

Selleck twitches his fine moustache as the patriarch with secrets of his own and O'Hara is broad comic relief as a lush whose idea of 'hair of the dog' is a quart jug of extra strong Bloody Mary.

With all of the explosions and sparks from ricocheting bullets, it's a miracle she doesn't go up in flames too.

1.10, 3.30.

Sex And The City 2 (12A): Fri-Sat 10.30.

Behind the scenes with the Question Time panel

Fans of celebrity gardeners will be flocking to the annual BBC Gardeners' World Live show this week to catch a glimpse of their favourites or sit in on one of the many presentations given by familiar faces.

Alan Titchmarsh, Monty Don, Toby Buckland, Carol Klein, Joe Swift and Alys Fowler will be appearing at the show at Birmingham's NEC, while gardeners who can't get there will be able to tune in to BBC Radio 4's Gardeners' Question Time, which is recording two programmes at the event.

The popular radio show, which is aired on Fridays and Sundays, attracts two million listeners each week – BBC Gardeners' World has the same number of viewers – and its influence on horticultural spending habits is immeasurable.

But just how prepared are the panellists for the onslaught of questions?

For the first 47 years the team were shown the

by Hannah Stephenson

questions in advance, but that tradition was dropped in 1994. Nowadays, being a panel member is not for the faint-hearted but for those with a depth of gardening knowledge and an incisive grasp of a question.

Regular panellist Anne Swithinbank says: "We don't get to see the questions ahead of the recording, but they are screened and selected by the producer and chairman. If they weren't, I suspect it would be how to cope with slugs and snails, how to get rid of ground elder and how to prune wisteria every week.

"We are often asked to recommend plants for specific sites and another common one is why some plants refuse to flower for their owners. We get asked a lot of questions about grape vines, figs and strangely, rhubarb."

Chairman Eric Robson adds: "The most common problems are slugs, snails and getting rid of them. Female panellists always have the most gruesome methods of killing and disposing of them."

They've been faced with some extremely unusual questions over the years.

Swithinbank recalls being asked: "If I was a tree, what sort would it be and why? And what trees would the other panellists be?"

"I said 'I suspect I'm more like a spreading shrub with rather jolly flowers, but wishfully thinking, would like to be a tree of heaven – sort of heavenly but rather high maintenance (this tree puts out suckers), or a pencil-thin Italian cypress (Cupressus sempervirens)'."

Robson recalls the panel being asked about the effectiveness of grow-lights.

"Unfortunately, the questioner was a prison inmate – we were recording at Leyhill Open Prison – and he wasn't interested in growing cucumbers."

Fellow panellist Matthew Biggs adds that often the last questions are humorous.

He was once asked, "What would you save from your burning shed?"

All agree that, however, much gardening knowledge they have, they still get nervous before a live show.

Robson says: "Even after 16 years in the chair the adrenaline runs before each show. After all it's a big responsibility chairing one of the longest running broadcast programmes in the world – 63 years and still going strong."

"As the then controller of Radio 4 said to me when I took over, 'You realise this isn't just a job. We're actually handing you the keys to middle England!'"

PLANT OF THE WEEK Hardy geranium (Cranesbill)

If you want a perennial which is going to give you so much valuable ground cover that weeds won't stand a chance, then the hardy geranium is for you. These tough perennials come in an abundance of colours, are long-flowering and require very little attention. Some will live quite happily in dry, shady spots, including G. macrorrhizum 'Ingwersen's Variety' or G. gracile.

Among the most rewarding are G. Johnson's Blue, which produces masses of blue flowers, while G. oxonianum 'Wargrave Pink' bears pretty pink flowers from May to September.

Buy them as young plants in small pots and they will soon grow into sizeable clumps which can be lifted and divided every few years.

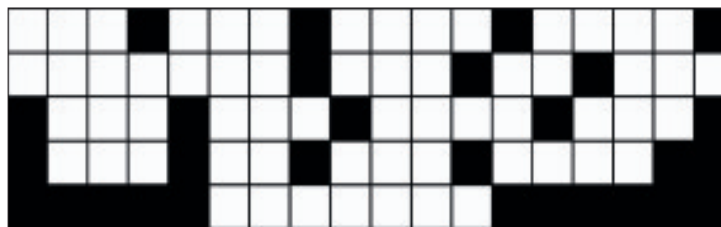

Good plant partners include those with a strong architectural outline, such as tall alliums, irises and phormiums. Hardy geraniums are generally trouble-free, but can be cut back in mid-summer if they start to look tatty and may flower again.

Lost letters 19

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square.

This quotation is by former US president John F Kennedy.

Volkswagen walks off with car security title

THE British Insurance Vehicle Security Awards are designed to raise consumer awareness of best practice in vehicle security.

Vehicles are assessed according to the New Vehicle Security Rating Scheme (NVS), with points awarded under the categories of 'theft of' and 'theft from' the vehicle. The winners are the models achieving the highest score in each category.

Volkswagen has won a raft of category awards as well as the overall accolade for the best car manufacturer.

The new Polo SEL claimed the 'City Car/Supermini' category; the Tiguan compact 4x4 triumphed in the new 'Crossover' class; the Phaeton once again took the title of best 'Luxury Car'; while the new Caravelle, which went on sale in the UK in January, was awarded the trophy for best 'Large MPV'.

Due to this comprehensive coverage and the volume of cars sold by the Volkswagen brand, the company was also crowned overall Manufacturer of the Year in the car section.

Rod McLeod, head of marketing for Volkswagen, said: "It's a tremendous achievement for the Volkswagen range to be ranked as the best on the market here and one of which we're very proud.

"To win the overall award is proof that security and safety features should not be the reserve of an elite few."

Toyota scooped two awards: the Toyota Land Cruiser V8 retained its top position in the large 4x4 category for the third year running, and Prius won the inaugural "Green Car" category.

Prius earned the new honour for having the lowest emissions among the UK's top-rated cars for security, acknowledging the importance today's motorists place on vehicle protection standards and their CO2 performance, for peace of mind and lower ownership costs.

Volkswagen Polo: Most secure city car

Prius's advanced Hybrid Synergy Drive system allows it to be driven using its petrol engine, electric motor or a combination of both to achieve optimum efficient performance – CO2 emissions are from just 89g/km. And as a full hybrid, it can run at low speeds over certain distances on its electric power alone, giving zero fuel consumption and tailpipe emissions.

The Citroën C4 Exclusive dominated in the 'Small Family Car' category, winning the award for the sixth year in a row. The C6 and C4 Picasso Exclusive both received top honours – in the 'Executive Car and Compact MPV' classes respectively – for the fourth consecutive year. The C5 won through in the 'Family Car' category for the third year running.

In the 'Van' categories – only the second year of inclusion at the awards – the Citroën C-Crosser Enterprise picked up the award for best 4x4 van for the second year running. The C-Crosser Enterprise is fitted with protective side window panels to guard against 'smash and grab' opportunists.

New Range Rover is clean and fast

A NEW, class-leading V8 diesel engine, new eight-speed transmission, two significant Terrain Response upgrades and subtle external styling enhancements are among the features on the new 2011 Range Rover – on sale in the UK from late September.

"The 2011 Range Rover retains its position as one of the world's most complete luxury vehicles. Its combination of reduced CO2 emissions and superior engine performance continue to make it a clear industry benchmark. And with the introduction of our all-new 'super diesel', we see the Range Rover delivering over 30mpg for the first time," says Phil Popham, Land Rover managing director.

The LR-TDV8 4.4-litre with parallel sequential turbo-charging replaces the outstanding LR-TDV8 3.6-litre and is unique to the Range Rover. The all-new LR-TDV8 combines superior power and massive torque with unparalleled levels of refinement.

Despite the extra performance, this V8 engine is cleaner too, delivering even lower fuel consumption and CO2 emissions than its predecessor.

The combined-cycle fuel consumption of the new LR-TDV8 4.4-litre is 30.1mpg, making this the first Range Rover ever to better 30mpg. With 313PS and 700Nm torque, the Range Rover's new powertrain reduces CO2 emissions by an impressive 14 per cent from 294g/km to 253g/km.

The new diesel engine catapults the Range Rover from rest to 60mph in a mere 7.5 seconds while the top speed increases from 125mph to 130mph.

Further details from www.Landrover.com/RangeRover.

Debut for stylish Astra

THE new Astra Sports Tourer will receive its debut at this year's Paris Motor Show in September and hit UK showrooms by the end of the year.

The Sports Tourer will be the second model to join the new Astra range, which has sold more than 28,000 units in the UK (to May) since its launch last December, and has helped the Astra become Britain's best-selling retail range in the first five months of this year.

With high levels of practicality, clothed in a typically sleek and rakish body from Brit Mark Adams' design team, the Sports Tourer will be available to order from the start of October.

The Sports Tourer and its hatch sibling will also be among the first Vauxhall models to adopt Start/Stop technology, which is effective at reducing emissions and fuel consumption.

PROJECT ENGINEER

Littleport, Cambs.

JDR Cable Systems Ltd. is a leading provider of custom-designed and manufactured umbilical systems, subsea power cables, and umbilical reeler/winch systems for international customers in the Oil and Gas and Renewable Energy sectors. With operations in Littleport, Hartlepool, Aberdeen, Houston, Thailand and Norway, our policy of strategic development to meet each new global challenge and opportunity has resulted in our exceptional growth which we are determined to enhance still further as demand for our expertise expands.

Recent major contract awards now require an additional Project Engineer to work closely with the Senior Project Manager on both umbilical and power cable projects ranging in value from £1m to £30m.

Your responsibilities will be many and varied:- liaison with inter-Company departments especially Procurement, Design, Scheduling, Production and Inspection; assisting with the management of key sub-suppliers and contractors; point of contact with our Customers' inspectors; project-related procedure preparation, all aimed at driving each project to conclusion to Time, Cost and Quality standards.

This is a significant position and is not one for the faint hearted; you will be thinking and planning ahead all the time to ensure that you are not caught out if the unexpected happens. In return we offer you the opportunity to join a dedicated team, determined to maintain JDR at the forefront of technical innovation and Customer respect.

We will be looking for a high standard of technical education and evidence of astute commercial awareness together with a will to succeed when faced with unusual and unexpected situations. Please visit our web site first, www.jdrables.com, and then call me for a confidential discussion to explore mutual interest. If there is, I will ask you to send me your targeted CV with a view to taking our mutual interest further. Christopher Donne 07774 631259 day or evening. ## A mini adventure . . .

HAVERHILL Rovers got their hands on some silverware at their first mini-soccer tournament at the New Croft. Their under-nines side, playing a year up, were runners-up to West Wrattling (above), while it was an all-Whittlesford final (below) in the under-11s. The event was such a success the club are already planning next year's event which will include older age groups. Further details can be obtained by emailing hryfc@hotmail.com.

&gt;&gt; Tennis

Seven up for Haverhill

HAVERHILL men's A team crushed Dunmow 7-2 in the Halstead & District League's Division Two. Adam Fowle and Nigel Fitch won 6-2, 6-3, 6-1, Jake Warner and Ian Terry won 6-3, 6-2, 6-2 while Rob Jeffs and Ross Tobin won 6-3 then lost the last two sets 2-6, 6-7. The mixed team are having a similarly successful time in the league, the A team (Nigel Fitch and Lucy Hardwick, Ross Tobin and Abi Cartwright-Thomas, and Ian Terry and Marcia Armstrong) beating Hedingham 5-4. The team of Stuart Read and Joan Ford, Fitch and Gill Argent and Peter Cannon and Amanda Smith also beat Braintree C 5-4 while Tobin and Gill Argent, Cannon and Ford and Jake Warner and Smith crushed Earls Colne A 8-1. However, Haverhill's women's team have had mixed fortunes in the Norfolk and Suffolk Tennis League's Division One. They lost 8-0 to Risbygate, drew 4-4 with Bury Victory beat Woolpit 5-3 and lost 7-1 to Newmarket. Haverhill: Lucy Hardwick, Abi Cartwright-Thomas, Rachel Jeffs, Marcia Armstrong, Gill Argent, Joan Ford, Joan Jarvis and junior Alex Jones.

That's Andy for Pro Day contest

THE team of Andy Fish, Andy Softley, Tim Daniels and David Roope claimed victory in Paul Wilby's Professional's Day at the Haverhill club.

They topped the competition – a team stableford event with three-quarters handicap and two scores to count – with 86 points from 84pts were Duncan Galloway, Ted Fairhead, Mark Hilton and Steve Mills (84pts) and Peter Bowers, Ivan Drury, Dick Sisman and Colin Durston (83pts).

The nearest-the-pin prize went to Jackie Condon while assistant pro Ollie Rush won the men's longest drive contest with Pat Kennedy earning the women's equivalent.

>> Andy Bareham won the President's Putter in a testing competition, played in medal format with a three-quarter handicap allowance.

He recorded a superb 70-3-67 to beat Jim Day 85-14-71 and Steve Piotrowski 83-12-71.

To top off the day, the competition produced the second hole-in-one of the week, Paul Borowy sinking his tee-shot on the par-three, 144 yard second hole. Earlier Lyndon Brown aced the par-three, 116 yards eighth hole.

Thirsty work: Andy Softley, David Roope, Andy Fish and Tim Daniels after their win

The Ladies June Smith Silver Salver followed the President's Putter and was won by Catie Heathfield with 33pts.

Marian Mercer was runner-up with 32pts and Eileen Kiddy third on countback with 31pts.

>> Ellis Brown won the Junior Medal with a nett 62.

Details: 1 Ellis Brown 84-22-62, 2 Liam Merritt 79-14-65, 3 Chris Vince 72-5-67.

>> Pat Kennedy won the ladies' section's June Stableford with 37 points. Marian Mercer was second with 35pts followed by Sheila Price 34pts.

Haverhill's Seniors continued their winning streak, beating Stoke by Nayland 6-2 and Hintlesham 6½ -½ at home.

The first Seniors Medal on the new yellow tee competition course was won by Keith McCallum with an impressive 93-28-65 on count back from Keith Ivory, 90-25-65. Peter Mercer was third with 91-22-69.

>> The Ladies Ping qualifier, a pairs stableford competition, was won by Jackie Condon and Mary Sail with 39pts and they are waiting to see if they have been selected to play in the regional final. Sue Carr and Pat Kennedy were runners-up with 38pts.

It's mixed for Horseheath

HORSEHEATH'S inconsistent Adams Harrison Midweek League campaign continues.

They reached the Adams Harrison Cup final – they tied with Abington but went through because they lost fewer wickets – but lost again in Division One and face a battle against relegation.

Dan Goldsmith scored 43 as Horseheath posted 114 for 9 (Stuart Morrison 3-14) against Babraham, but Chris Palmer (48 not out) powered the home side to 115 for 6.

Good bowling from Stuart Ketteridge (3-30) and Steve Saville (3-29) propelled Haverhill to the top of the table after a last-over win against defending champions Sawston.

The bowlers tied the visitors to 98 for 9, but Luke Youngs got Haverhill home at 102 for 5 with an unbeaten 27. Dan Poole also scored 25.

Brockley almost pulled off a shock win against Saffron Walden, getting to within one run of their target.

Grant Gillard (50 not out) and Steve Marsh (49) lifted Walden to 155 for 5, but James Jones blasted an unbeaten 69 as Brockley fell short at 153 for 4.

Martin Little snapped up 5-27 as Abington maintained their promotion push from Division Two with victory at Manor.

After Matt Thomas (56) and Stuart Duquemin (29) helped Abington to 169 for 6, before Little scuppered Manor for 102.

In the same division, Hundon piled on the misery for Mill Green, who were all out for 88 chasing Hundon's 138 for 6. Akram Khan (3-29) and Safre Akram (4-17) did the damage.

In a high-scoring game in 3A, Tom Beaumont (74 not out) and Kevin Davis (54) powered Hundon II to 178 for 4 against Highpoint. Luke Kingston hit an unbeaten 52, Aaron Waters 41 and Martin Button 26 as Highpoint wound up at 168 for 6.

Elsewhere in the same division, Gestingthorpe (152 for 3) beat Haverhill II (101 for 5) while Great Yeldham got back on track with victory at Wrattling Lions, Will Bryant hitting 54 and Mark

&gt;&gt; Cricket

Roberts 29 as they reached 142 for 5. Dan Tatum (4-27) pegged Wrattling back to 139 for 7.

Helions Bumpstead are also looking for a quick return to Division Two. They chased down 147 at Linton in 3B with Andy Rose (62) and Paul Brazier (36) getting them to 148 for 2.

Earlier Adam Suckling (5-41) and Steve Jones (4-50) wreaked havoc in Linton's innings of 147.

And 57 from Tom Daniels, backed by Mick Housden's 44, saw Balsham to 147 for 2 which was more than enough to beat Babraham, who got no closer than 101 for 3.

>> Division Two leaders St Ives recorded a seven-wicket win over Weston Colville in the Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League.

Colville batted first with Peter Bragg (48) Adam Taylor (36) helping them to 170 for 7. In reply, St Ives' Steven Smith hit an unbeaten 70 as the leaders eased to 172 for 3.

>> Horseheath were dragged closer to the relegation zone in Division One of the Cricket Stick CCA League after a 39-run defeat at Doddington.

The hosts scored 242 for 6 – their highest total of the season – and then restricted the visiting side to 203 for 9. Martin Farrant (57) and Mick Ketteridge (42) were the pick of the Horseheath batsmen.

Kings from Castle in a finals push

CASTLE Manor's Year 10 boys cruised to the Aegion Suffolk County finals with an emphatic 6-0 victory over County Upper School, Bury St Edmunds.

They have only dropped two sets in reaching the last four at Woodbridge College tomorrow (Friday), convincingly beating both Thurston College and King Edwards, Bury St Edmunds 5-1.

The team – Ross Tobin, James Willett, James Cuthbert and Cameron Gray – have all attended a Castle Manor sports initiative hosted by the David Lloyd Club in Cambridge, where they received coaching from Haverhill professional tennis coach Steve Smith, who has been delighted with the boys' progress, enthusiasm and successful match performances.

Wayne Lloyd, vice-principal at Castle Manor, said: "We are very proud of the boys achievement which is testament to their hard work. We would like especially to thank the coaches at the David Lloyd and look forward to continuing our successful partnership."

Future's orange for ace Harry

RISING star Harry Wendelken won an under-nine tournament at the Hills Road High Performance Centre, Cambridge.

Played on the Orange court – a scaled-down version of a larger full-size court with low compression balls – matches are decided on the best of three tie-breaks to seven points.

Wendelken (pictured right), from Haverhill, eased through the group stages with some adventurous play at the net. He then beat Bedfordshire's Brennan Connelly in the quarter-finals 7-4, 7-5 and followed it up with a 7-3, 7-4 win over Harris Lister from Suffolk.

In the final he faced Alistair Davies, of Essex, and was given the toughest test of the competition. He won the first tie-break 7-3 but, after narrowly losing the second 7-5, he bounced back to take the decider 7-2. In the girls' matches the decisive match was an all-Huntingdon affair between Molly McDonald and Imogen Kennedy. McDonald won a hard-fought match 7-2, 5-7, 7-2. Tournament referee Sue Rich said: "Harry played very well during the day and in particular when he was behind in the match. "All the children competed very well and it was a pleasure to referee such a good event."

Seconds take Hart with a crucial win

HAVERHILL'S Sunday second side racked up a first in their Hunts County Bats Suffolk Sunday League, Division Four campaign.

They recorded back-to-back wins for the first time this season, cruising to victory at Long Melford. They lost the toss, but that did not prove to be a handicap.

Haverhill took on the home bowlers and powered to 280, Sam Hartshorn taking the man-of-the-match award with a superb 85, although Martyn Wilkins hit 50 and Paul Spurling 49 in a late blitz which produced more than 100 runs in 12 overs.

An imposing target was made even more difficult for Long Melford when opening bowler Liam Botten took a wicket with his first delivery for the second team and Ryan Fowler dismissed the other opener in the following over.

Although Kemp tried to repair the damage with 57, wickets tumbled regularly at the other end to David Saville (2-46), Ben Wilkins (4.4-1-7-2), and Steve Saville (1-12) and they finished well short.

They will look to make it three wins on the bounce at home to Elmswell on Sunday (1.30pm).

The first team failed to break their losing run – of their seven games in Division One they have suffered five defeats and had two fixtures washed out – against Lakenheath and travel to Mildenhall on Sunday.

Stu-pondous!

IN-FORM Stu Ketteridge fired Haverhill to the top of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship, Division Two table on Saturday.

The paceman followed up his hat-trick the previous week with a five-wicket haul in the top of the table match against Woodbridge & OW.

He restricted the pre-match leaders to 111 before teenage batsman Luke Youngs took centre stage.

The wicketkeeper, promoted to opener, blasted an unbeaten 49 and with Dan Wilkins (36 not out) in tandem, Haverhill hurtled towards an eight-wicket victory in 23 overs.

"The conditions weren't ideal – Woodbridge had to come off two or three times because of the weather – but if someone had told us we'd have been top of the table at this stage of the season, we'd have taken it," said club chairman Steven Woodley. The title bid continues at Brightlingsea on Saturday.

In Division Six, Haverhill II slumped to a 53-run defeat at Nacton who, although they generally outplayed their visitors, received quite a bit of help from careless batsman throwing away their wickets.

Skipper Martyn Wilkins shouldered the blame for allowing Nacton to recover from 118 for 9 to post a total of 163 for 9 after a five-over run barrage.

Until that point, Haverhill had bowled tidily, Wilkins taking two wickets, Dan Webb 2-23, Steve Saville 1-12 off six overs, and Steve Fox 2-51.

The skipper also proved the mainstay of the reply, which was motoring along quite nicely at 60 for 2 before a collapse which left them lurching at 74 for 7.

He was then joined by his 14-year-old son Ben, who took the innings on after his father fell. He made 13 as Haverhill subsided to 110.

Wilkins snr said: "Batsman threw their wickets away by hitting the ball in the air and giving 10 catches to our opponents.

Having said that, Nacton played very well and outplayed us in every department of the game.

"We must learn to battle harder when the going gets tough and value our wickets. We did let them get too many runs and I must take the blame for that with the bowling changes at the death."

The seconds are at home to Brightlingsea II on Saturday.
